Update: From the Support site, you can get a serial number and download the appropriate device firmware (cameras and video recorders). The Firmware-Update Service can be used to download the newest firmware of the devices which have still a valid serial number (Nr). The Firmware-Update Service has no influence on the firmware version of the device which is already being used or of the firmware versions of other devices. The firmware of the device is always located on the hard disk, which is attached to the device during the process. The serial number of the new firmware version can be input directly into the Firmware-Update Service using the input field "Serial Number". Ip700-800 Security User Manual his face.
